AN AMERICAN POLITICAL DRAMA LIKE NO OTHER

By Staff Writer

In an unexpected turn of events in an already eventful US presidential campaign, President Joe Biden suddenly announced on Sunday that he was pulling out of the race and won't be seeking a second term.

The dramatic u-turn, quite unlike the ageing president's visibly slowed mobility - and acuity - of late, came on the heels of an announcement just a day before in which he said he was preparing to continue campaigning once he'd completed his COVID-19 isolation after testing positive last week.

This has set the entire campaign into a tailspin.

Mr Biden has endorsed Vice President Kamala Harris as his choice to succeed him as the Democrats' candidate when the party holds its annual convention on August 19th.

That will be just short of a month after the Republican party held its convention in which it gave the thumbs-up to former President Donald Trump and his choice for running mate, J D Vance.

► Biden Harris Trump

The equally firebrand J D Vance had previously described his now leader in the frame of Adolf Hitler and called him an idiot. He has now recanted saying Mr Trump is a changed man.

It's now all to play for. The Democrats first have to confirm or reject VP Kamala Harris - the presumptive nominee - plus confirm her running mate, whomever that might be. But it might not be smooth sailing as other names are already being thrown into the mix.

The focus is now firmly back on the Democrats - arguably for the wrong reasons by some analysts - and apparently much to the consternation of Donald Trump's MAGA campaign.

The Republicans' convention labelled variously as eventful, celebratory, tumultuous and uproarious was marred by an assassination on Mr Trump. The incident has led to an investigation over concerns about security shortcomings for the former president. The assailant was shot dead by Mr Trump's security.

During the convention, many Trump supporters could be seen adorned with medical plasters over their ears in a show of support for their leader whose ear was nicked by the would-be assassin's bullet in a worryingly close call.

An initial appeal by both Mr Trump and President Biden for calm and to tone down the rhetoric didn't last long. They soon resumed their mutually vitriolic attacks on each other, although the fusillade of insults and denigrations from Trump's MAGA team has clearly 'trumped' Team Biden.

Meanwhile, for the Democrats who are now in reset mode, the about-turn by President Biden has unleashed a torrent of well-wishes equal only to the previous waves concern over whether the was a help or hindrance to the party's - and his own - presidential re-election campaign.

The Trump campaign has not been that magnanimous.

Where Mr Biden takes credit for restoring the US economy to growth along with a raft of progressive policies, Team Trump claims he has wrecked the economy and American society, especially on immigration.

With Mr Trump's recent ratings outstripping those of his rival, especially following President Biden's widely-criticised lame-duck performance during their recent television debate, there are growing perceptions that the Trump campaign is sorry to see the back of Mr Biden.

It's felt in some circles that VP Kamala Harris might make a more formidable opponent, especially in televised debates. But first, she'll have to secure her party's nomination with a running mate in tow. It's reported that donations into the Democrats' campaign coffers have ballooned since Mr Biden's shock announcement.

With around 100 days (and counting down) to the November 5th Presidential Election date, it's all to play for.

The world is once more watching intently. The global implications are as significant as the national impact.

CROWDSTRIKE ERROR STRIKES CAYMAN AND SHOWS HOW EXPOSED WE ARE...ALSO

While there is some comfort with the company which has admitted fault for the outage confirming that was not a hack or some other sinister cyberattack, the extent of the disruption continues to inconvenience governments, businesses and citizens around the world.

Work has been continuing on fixing the problem, but the company which has accepted responsibility - and other IT experts - say it could take days and possibly weeks for the matter to be resolved.

American cybersecurity firm CrowdStrike said the issue has only affected its customers running Microsoft Windows, the world's most popular operating system for personal computers.

However, the knock-on impact on other systems and software programmes has been crippling, with many systems rendered inaccessible or otherwise inoperable and many companies, governments and citizens having to resort to paper, handwritten documents or other methods considered 'primitive' in today's technology-driven world.

CAYMAN IMPACT

In regular updates on corrective steps being taken locally, the Cayman Islands Government(CIG) reported that its Computer Services Department has made further progress in resolving the recent issue affecting government systems. It reported a work rate of "roughly 250 machines being resolved per hour."

"The Computer Services Department is actively resolving all workstations across the government. We appreciate your patience and understanding during this period. Further updates will be provided as more information becomes available."

When the problem first hit, it had advised the public that "the Computer Services Department is working with CrowdStrike on a necessary fix and is urgently striving to resolve this issue as quickly as possible. During this time, many public-facing services will be impacted. We ask for your patience and understanding."

Across the private sector as well locally, a range of services from banking to retail, travel and medical services have suffered disruptions similar to the pattern of outages worldwide.

BLUESCREEN BLUES

The CrowdStrike update meant to improve computer and cyber security, paradoxically itself contributed to the very problem it was trying to fix.

IT experts have explained that the update was meant to make systems more secure against hacking, but instead caused devices to display a "blue screen of death" due to faulty code.

CrowdStrike is an American cybersecurity firm founded in 2011 and based in Austin, Texas. It offers a range of security services using cloud-based software and has grown rapidly since its inception with thousands of workers and clients across the globe.

Of the many analyses coming out of this major incident are those focusing on the global reliance on information technology (IT) and its internet-driven services and support systems. With the consequential vulnerabilities, the emphasis on effective security systems - both as part of a network and on individual units - has become even more urgent given the risks and the potential for disruption...either accidentally or literally at the 'hands' of sinister operatives.

More clinic hours for Bodden Town residents

The Health Services Authority (HSA) has extended the hours of its Physician Clinic at the Bodden Town Health Centre to accommodate more residents seeking access to medical care.

With the addition of the new afternoon appointments, the Physician's Clinic on Fridays will now operate from 9:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

By increasing the frequency of medical services, the HSA is ensuring that residents across eastern districts receive timely and effective medical care. This move is expected to improve overall health outcomes, reduce the burden on emergency services, and foster a healthier, more productive population.

"At the HSA, we continue to ensure that the population remains healthy and safe by providing care in multiple convenient settings. Our vision is to strategically utilise resources to facilitate care for members of the community. By accessing care closer to home it benefits the patients and lessens the time and cost needed to remain healthy," said Dr. Samuel Williams-Rodriguez, HSA's Director of Primary Healthcare Services.

Amid a growing population and changing demography, the HSA has been focused on improving services to the eastern districts. Statistics from the 2021 Population Census showed that Bodden Town recorded the most robust population growth rate across most age groups compared to other districts, indicative of the need for greater access to routine health care.

"To guarantee access to healthcare for all, we must adapt to the many changes taking place. It goes beyond just saying but demonstrating that we are committed to executing the mandate. To achieve this, we are also looking to make similar incremental adjustments across other clinics in the eastern districts within the year," noted Head of the General Practice Clinic Dr. Eryka Simmons.

This initiative follows the February opening of a temporary EMS station in Bodden Town to reduce emergency response times in eastern districts.

To make an appointment, persons may call 949-8600, send an email to info@hsa.ky or utilise the MyHSA Patient Portal mobile app.

CIG Update on Oil Tanker – Sea Elephant

The Cayman Islands Government, through the Acting Deputy Governor Gloria McField-Nixon has confirmed that the oil tanker, MT Sea Elephant, is now at Jackson Point Terminal to offload its fuel products. The ship will subsequently be anchored at Anchorage #3 in the George Town port area, where it will undergo inspection prior to its anticipated departure from the jurisdiction.

The public may expect to see the vessel in our port area over the next several days.

OfReg has been monitoring the matter closely, and in particular the availability of fuel stocks, and confirms that there are no concerns regarding fuel supplies within the Cayman Islands.

Investigations continue by the Department of Environment, Coast Guard, Maritime Authority of the Cayman Islands and other Government agencies, into the incident involving the Sea Elephant which occurred in Cayman Brac on Saturday, 6 July."

Bodden Shipping Agency - Press statement

Bodden Shipping has become aware of speculation on an internet site regarding the tanker MT Sea Elephant. It is a source of regret that the publisher of the article in question did not attempt to speak with Bodden Shipping before publishing information about us quoting anonymous "government sources" that was inaccurate.

Due to the ongoing criminal investigation Bodden Shipping is limited in what we can say about the Sea Elephant and the circumstances of its visit to Cayman Brac on 6 July 2024, however, some of the inaccuracies in the article must be corrected.

The article implies that Bodden Shipping is at fault for the Sea Elephant's inability to dock in Grand Cayman - this is wrong. Similarly, the suggestion that this is because we "retired the last five Caymanian pilots" is completely misconceived. Our former pilots who retired did so either at their own request or because they were in their 80s and it was no longer appropriate for them to continue this work. The reason Bodden Shipping has not hired new Caymanian pilots is that there are none with the advanced Master Mariner qualifications required to do this work - as such we hired highly experienced professionals from overseas.

Pilotage services have not been suspended or terminated - as evidenced by the berthing of the GTM Germany at Jackson Point terminal on July 17th. Similarly, we have informed all relevant parties that we will provide pilotage services for the Sea Elephant as soon as berthing prospects are available. Bodden Shipping has been in business since 1979 faithfully serving the interests of the people of the Cayman Islands and will continue to do so.

Following the incident in Cayman Brac we and our pilots reached out to the DoE and other investigating agencies offering to assist with their investigation and attend, at a place and time of the DoE's choosing, in order to be interviewed about the events in Cayman Brac. Those offers were rejected and our pilots were instead met by multiple enforcement officers, arrested and taken to detention centers.

Notwithstanding this our pilots continue to perform their professional duties and we remain willing to assist the authorities with their investigations. We look forward to the rapid conclusion of the investigation and the exoneration of our pilots.

HSA, UCCI sign MOU to develop young Caymanians

In a strong demonstration of its commitment to advancing local healthcare, the Cayman Islands Health Service Authority (HSA) has solidified its partnership with the University College of the Cayman Islands (UCCI) Ruth Eleanor McLaughlin School of Nursing through the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on 10th July 2024.

The five-year MOU lays the foundation for the HSA to provide students in the Bachelor of Science in Nursing programme with a suitable environment for clinical learning experiences and access to highly qualified staff to serve as preceptors and supervisors.

Ms. Lizzette Yearwood, CEO of the HSA noted that “This MOU amplifies the partnership between two of the Cayman Islands’ prestigious institutions to advance health education and practices by ensuring the development of a cadre of capable and skilled nursing professionals that will continue to deliver exceptional compassionate care to patients”.

Under the agreement, students will benefit immensely by fine-tuning their nursing and procedural knowledge and interpersonal skills that will benefit the community. Prior to the MOU signing, the UCCI and HSA had for many years maintained fruitful, mutually beneficial relationships, working closely to enhance healthcare through shared resources and expertise.

Minister of Health & Wellness, the Honourable Sabrina Turner expressed that “There is no better way to future-proof our community to enhance resilience than by investing in the education and development of our young people”.

She emphasised that: “The signing of this MOU is a great step for our islands as it provides our young Caymanians with invaluable opportunities to pursue and enhance their nursing careers locally. It is also a proactive step in encouraging more interest and uptake in this field, one that is in great demand globally, and which helps us build greater resilience within our healthcare system by nurturing home-grown talent. Partnerships such as this create a positive ripple effect not only for those directly involved but for our entire community.”

Dr. Robert W. Robertson, President, and CEO of UCCI, commented, “This MOU represents a significant milestone in our ongoing efforts to elevate healthcare education in the Cayman Islands. Celebrating the tenth anniversary of our Ruth Eleanor McLaughlin School of Nursing this year, we are proud to be the only nursing school on the island and to have consistently maintained a 100% pass rate in the RENR nursing exams for our graduates.

“By partnering with the HSA, we are ensuring that our nursing students receive the best clinical training and mentorship from seasoned healthcare professionals. This collaboration not only enhances the quality of our nursing programme but also strengthens our commitment to producing highly skilled and compassionate healthcare providers who will serve our community with excellence.”

In May, the HSA recognised six participants who completed the Transition to Practice Programme (TTP), all of whom are graduates of the UCCI’s School of Nursing Programme. The TTP is a 12-month-long nursing training initiative that bridges the gap between academic learning and professional practice.

Premier Extends Hurricane Beryl Support to Jamaica

► Prime Minister for Jamaica Hon. Andrew Holness greets Premier Juliana O'Connor-Connolly

By: Takiyah Smith

The Cayman Islands commenced engagement on post-disaster assistance with Jamaica on Thursday, 18 July, following devastating impacts from Hurricane Beryl earlier this month.

Premier Hon. Juliana O'Connor-Connolly led a delegation of government officials to Kingston, Jamaica where they interfaced with Prime Minister Hon. Andrew Holness and representatives of the Jamaican government. Jamaica's Minister for Local Government and Community Development, Hon. Desmond McKenzie, MP; Minister for Labour and Social Security Hon. Parnell Charles Jr., MP, and Senator Hon. Dr. Dana Morris Dixon of the Office of the Prime Minister were present and shared key insights into the status of Jamaica following the historic category 4 hurricane.

The Cayman delegation was briefed on the level of damage incurred to the island, particularly along its southern coast. Ideas were exchanged between leaders on recovery and resiliency, as well as the need for regional collaboration on preparedness.

A financial donation of $200,000 USD has been made by the Cayman Islands Government to the Building A Better Jamaica Fund, led by the National Commercial Bank of Jamaica and its philanthropic arm, the NCB Foundation. The funding will go towards providing relief to communities most adversely affected by Hurricane Beryl.

The delegation toured communities in the parish of Clarendon and delivered medical supplies donated from the Health Services Authority and Health City Cayman Islands.

"As we accept the grace we received from Hurricane Beryl, it is also our duty as a neighbour with strong historical ties to the nation of Jamaica to extend kindness at this time. It brought me much joy to personally interact with Prime Minister Holness and Members of his Cabinet and offer direct support and encouragement", stated Premier O'Connor-Connolly.

The donation comes as part of the US$1.2 million pledge by the Cayman Islands Government to assist the four Caribbean countries most impacted by Hurricane Beryl. Similar donations have already been presented to Grenada, St. Vincent & the Grenadines.

Premier O'Connor-Connolly noted, "Given our awareness of the pressing needs of Jamaica, we thought it important to come today to reassure the Government and people of Jamaica of our commitment. I am also pleased to announce that that a 7-person team of CUC's linesmen will be arriving on 23 July to join in the effort to restore electricity to Jamaican communities- which was confirmed by Mr Richard Hew, CEO of CUC. Based on my tour of impacted areas, the needs are great. Therefore, we will be reaching out to the Cayman Islands community to coordinate a drive for relief items for Jamaica.

The Premier was accompanied by Parliamentary Secretary, Hon W. McKeever Bush; Cabinet Secretary Mr Samuel Rose; Honorary Consul of Jamaica, Dr Joseph Marzouca; Senior Special Advisor; Mr Darrel Rankine; and the Director of Communications, Mrs Oneisha Richards.

CIG Internship Programme to Benefit Over 100 Students

Since the start of July, the Cayman Islands Government (CIG) has welcomed 92 Caymanian students as summer interns, with others set to join throughout the summer. The CIG will provide more than 100 students with practical work experience and expose them to future hiring managers, showcasing the Government's commitment to nurturing the next generation of civil servants.

The recruitment has aligned with the Civil Service's strategic goal to 'Pursue Excellence in Talent Development'.

Last month's participants in the annual internship programme gathered recently to hear inspiring stories and invaluable insights from various heads of departments within the Civil Service. The event provided an opportunity for interns to learn about the diverse career opportunities available within the civil and wider public service and to understand the dynamic paths that can lead to fulfilling careers.

Acting Deputy Governor, Gloria McField-Nixon, shared her own inspiring civil service journey, which began as an intern at Radio Cayman. She provided an overview of the extensive career options available within the Civil Service and highlighted the flexibility of moving across different departments to gain a broad spectrum of experiences. She also stated to the interns, "Every year, departments across the Civil Service look forward to the opportunities that CIG's internship programme provides to work with such capable and diverse talent. I must commend you for using your summers productively, to network and to gain practical experience to kickstart your career or narrow your chosen fields of specialisation. You may find, like many young persons before you, that a summer internship ignites a career-long passion for public service where success is measured in our positive impact in "making lives better".

The CIG's current Employee of the Year, Zhane Rambaran, shared her Civil Service journey as well, highlighting her professional growth through the CIG mentorship programme and other key milestones in her career. Other speakers at the event included Marcia Mullings-Thompson from Poinciana, Marilyn Brandt; Deputy Solicitor General, Nathan Paget; Director of the Internal Audit Service, Simon Davis, Director of Public Prosecutions, and Uche Obi, Director of Lands and Survey. Each speaker recounted their unique career paths, emphasising the importance of being open to new opportunities and the often winding, yet rewarding, journey of professional growth within the Civil Service.

The interns, representing diverse fields of study such as graphic design, law, architecture, business management, tourism and hospitality, geography, accounting, economics, health sciences, and film production, were inspired by the speakers' stories and advice.

NEW UK LABOUR GOV'T SETS OUT POLICY PRIORITIES

By Staff Writer

The new Labour Party government in the United Kingdom has outlined its policy priorities in the King's Speech by King Charles III at the State Opening of Parliament this past week.

The Labour Party was returned to power in the UK's July 4th election after spending the past 14 years in Opposition.

Prime Minister Sir Keir Starmer's administration is expected to withstand any resistance to its policy programme owing to its unassailable 239-seat majority where it commands 411 of the 650 seats in the House of Commons (British Parliament).

Although the Throne Speech did not specifically mention the Overseas Territories, the new Labour government and the now-Opposition Conservatives did target 'non-doms' (non-domiciled UK citizens) quite aggressively during their election campaign.

They claimed that 'non-doms' are denying the government billions in tax revenue through their overseas business and personal income but not reported for tax in the UK. Non-doms are individuals who live in the UK but declare their permanent residence as being overseas.

The Keir Starmer government is said to be eager to push ahead with the Public Access Beneficial Ownership Register, but there are suggestions that it might take a different approach to that of the previous Conservative government.

While not a feature of the Labour Party manifesto, the Public Access Beneficial

► Prime Minister Sir Keir Starmer Official

Ownership Register issue was listed by the Conservatives as a policy priority for them.

"We will intensify our fight to stop money laundering and dirty money and ensure all British Overseas Territories and Crown Dependencies adopt open registers of beneficial ownership," it said.

While the Conservatives were pushing for full open and public access, indications are that the Labour government might be more amenable to limiting that to legal and other official purposes.

The new government's policy priorities outlined in the King's Speech focus on what it termed as "creating wealth in every corner of the country, and improving the living standards of working people."

► UK Kings Speech 2024

King Charles mentioned that more than 35 bills and draft bills would be presented enable economic growth, including a bill that enforced tough new spending rules. The package of bills will focus on growing the economy by speeding up the building of houses and infrastructure, improving transport, creating more jobs and securing clean, green energy.

High on the agenda is a 're-nationalisation' programme entailing core operations of the railway system, and establishing Great British Energy, a publicly owned green energy company - the objective being to make Britain a "clean energy superpower".

The legislation programme includes commitments to kickstart economic growth, ensure responsible public finances, and introduce a bill to establish a National Wealth Fund for making transformational investments across the UK.

The government also plans to reform restrictive building regulations, giving more rights to people renting their homes, and providing more power to local governments in the UK. A massive housebuilding programme for affordable homes is planned to correct a crippling housing crisis by building on lands in areas regularly opposed by some residents dubbed 'nimbys' for their stance of 'not in my backyard'.

Additionally, there are policy proposals affecting areas such as employment rights, the National Health Service, crime, and national security.

While these were among the headline policies mentioned in the King's Speech, it is expected that other issues will make it onto the policy agenda - as some already are.

Leadership Cayman's Class of 2024 graduates in style – and opens doors to new applications for 2025

► A big thank-you, and a special presentation, to Wheaton Precious Metals for their continued sponsorship of the programme.

► A big thank-you, and a special presentation, to RBC Royal Bank (Cayman) Limited in recognition of their continued sponsorship of the programme

Leadership Cayman's Class of 2024 celebrated their graduation in style - with a dinner at the Cayman Islands Yacht Club on Saturday 13 July. It was the culmination of six months of transformative seminars, retreats and workshops which connected LC students with Cayman's top leaders from key industries, institutions and professions.

Their journey began in January with a three-day retreat in Cayman Brac, and continued with seminars and onsite visits covering healthcare, culture & heritage, education, financial services, criminal justice, technology, media, sustainability & the environment, education and immigration & workforce development.

First off, we want to express our deepest gratitude to the Cayman Islands Chamber of Commerce. Their vision in creating this programme, and their ongoing investment in developing our future leaders, deserves our praise," said Emcees Craig Bodden and Lisa Parks, "Since 2010, the Chamber has championed Leadership Cayman, ensuring its success year after year. We are incredibly grateful."

"We also want to recognize our amazing sponsors who are here tonight, Cox Lumber (now AL Thompson), RBC and Wheaton Precious Metals. Your contribution helps make this whole programme possible. Thank you for joining us as we celebrate our success!"

Chamber Vice President and LC Alumni member Cristina Spratt reflected on her own LC journey when she undertook the programme in 2015 and encouraged the graduates to continue to stay connected: "From today you will make up part of the 361 Alumni of Leadership Cayman. As Alumni you are part of an elite group of people who will have the privilege of participating in exclusive events and activities. I hope that you have enjoyed your LC experience and the friendships you have made along the way," she said.

Class Chairperson Ravi Campbell congratulated all the graduates, encouraging them to make the most of staying connected through future alumni events.

Academy Takes Top Spots at USA Cup

One of Cayman's largest youth football programs has achieved record success competing in this year's Target USA Cup held in Blaine, Minnesota.

Academy Sports Club returned from its week-long competition at one of the largest youth football tournaments in the world with 1 Gold and 2 Runners-Up trophies.

The Club's U19 boys won the prestigious U19 Gold championship, and its U19 girls and U16 boys came runners-up in their respective finals.

"This year 4 out of 7 teams made it to the semi-finals in their age groups, with 3 of those making it to the finals," explained Paul Byles, U19 boys' Head Coach, and Head of the Cayman Islands delegation of over 145 players and parents.

"All of the 7 teams performed very well against excellent teams from the USA and around the world, and we are really proud to see how their football has developed," added Byles.

The club has been participating in the USA Cup for over 13 years.

"Our girls program is progressing very well, and we are very proud of the performance of our U19 girls at this year's competition. The club has invested heavily in our girls' program, and the appointment of a new experienced women's coach is paying off," added Byles.

Several of the club's U19 girls have been developed at the club for years, leading to them being selected for the Cayman Islands National Team.

The performance of its U16 boys bodes well for this age group because in 1-2 years some of these players will be looking to take their football to the next level either university or on a professional pathway.

Winning the U19 boys Gold is a top achievement by the club. Byles explained that many of the players on that team have been with the club for 10-13 years, with several being selected for the Cayman Islands Men's National Team and the U20 National Team at a young age.

"Those years of development at Academy Sports Club have paid off because several are already attending university and playing at a very good level in the NCAA and were able to secure scholarships due to their football ability," said Byles.

Virgil Seymour, Academy's technical director, said, "Giving this international experience to more than 100 young footballers is a big part of our club's commitment. It is a huge undertaking for us as a not-for-profit focused on youth development. I especially want to thank the many sponsors who have stepped up to assist us this year and a huge thanks to Paul Byles for his commitment to leading our youth program over the past 13 years."

Academy has been taking teams overseas to compete for over 15 years, including to the USA, Holland, the UK, and the Caribbean.

The Target USA Cup 2024 is a prestigious youth football tournament held annually in Blaine, Minnesota, attracting over 1,000 teams from across the United States and numerous countries worldwide. The global event features youth players aged from under-9s to under-19s competing in various divisions, showcasing their talent and love for the sport. Beyond the field, the tournament serves as a hub for cultural exchange and international friendship among participants from a diverse range of nations, making it a truly enriching experience for all involved in the football community.

A special thanks to all our sponsors and supporters: Ministry of Tourism, Ministry of Youth, Ministry of Social Development, A. L. Thompsons, Health City Cayman Islands, Crighton Properties, Phillip Rankin, Renard Moxam.

Twenty teams get set to contest the CFU Club Shield

Twenty teams from across the Caribbean, including defending champions SV Robinhood from Suriname, are gearing up for the 2024 CFU Club Shield slated for July 25 to August 4 in Willemstad, Curaçao.

This year's edition marks the first time that the CFU is organizing and managing the competition hitherto run by Concacaf and called the Caribbean Club Shield. As in previous editions, the 2024 competition will still qualify two teams to the Concacaf Caribbean Cup.

The number of teams in the hunt for top honors is up by five from 2023 when 15 clubs participated. This has necessitated a change in format to a straight knockout competition, raising the stakes on the teams and bringing intensity to the contest from the first whistle.

In addition to the defending champs SV Robinhood, the contenders are: America FC (Haiti); Arnett Gardens FC (Jamaica); AS Étoile De Matoury (French Guiana); AS Junior Stars (Sint Martin); B.A.Y.S FC (St. Lucia); CCCUL Dublanc FC (Dominica); Club Atlético Pantoja (Dominican Republic); CRKSV Jong Holland (Curaçao); Defence Force FC (Trinidad and Tobago); Grenades FC (Antigua and Barbuda); Guyana

► SV Robinhood Club Shield 2023

Defence Force FC (Guyana); Metropolitan FC (Puerto Rico); Paradise FC International (Grenada); RAMS Village Superstars FC (St. Kitts and Nevis); Scholars International SC (Cayman Islands); SCSA Eagles (St. Maarten); SV Racing Club Aruba (Aruba); SV Real Rincon

(Bonaire); and SWA Sharks FC (Turks and Caicos Islands).

The competition, which was established in 2018, has a primary objective of advancing professional football throughout the Caribbean. Participation is open to semi-professional clubs and amateur teams holding current championship titles in their respective domestic leagues.

CFU General Secretary Camara David said all systems are go for an exciting completion.

"From an organizing perspective, we have worked between both organizations to ensure a seamless transition of the competition from Concacaf to the CFU. We have enjoyed that same level of collegiality with the Curaçao Football Federation, and I can assure regional football fans that the teams are ready to battle for Caribbean supremacy," David said.

CFU President Randolph Harris noted the importance of the CFU Club Shield to the developmental agenda for regional football. "The competition aims to help professionalize football in the Caribbean. I am on the record many times noting the need for us to keep developing and advancing football in the region for many reasons, not least amongst them opening up pathways for our footballers. The CFU is pleased to collaborate with Concacaf on this competition and look forward to working closely with the confederation to advance football in the Caribbean," Harris said.

Defending champions SV Robinhood won both the Club Shield and the Caribbean Cup in 2023, making them a definite team to watch.

Fans may watch livestreams of the matches on the CFU's YouTube page, CFU Official, and follow the CFU's social media platforms for updates.
