Remembering Ivan: 20 Year Anniversary

Considering the rather tranquil weather conditions currently gracing Cayman a hurricane might be the last thing on the minds of many residents.

It might be easy to forget that we are at the peak of the 2024 Atlantic hurricane season.

But embedded in the collective Caymanian memory are vivid recollections of Hurricane Ivan of September 12th 2004.

On September 12th 2004 Hurricane Ivan

ELECTION WATCH: COUNTDOWN TO 2025

Believe it or not, but believe it because it is so; Cayman is on the road to Election Campaign 2025.

Campaigning mode might appear to be slow for now, but in the background, the wheels are already churning, revving up to full steam ahead of campaign launches.

And that has already started with the progressives first out of the gate triggering its own leadership succession plan. Roy McTaggart has made way for Joey Hew.

Meanwhile, in the governing United People's Movement coalition, formed from the remnants of the imploded PACT government, Premier Juliana O'Connor-Conolly has dropped several very public hints that she could be 'dropping out' - if not of politics, then apparently the Premiership.

What then might become of her hastily formed post-PACT UPM? Will PACT make a comeback? Ex-Premier Wayne Panton has not been exactly quiet, especially recently.

Will loose associations of independents formalise their 'arrangements' to become political parties, or will Cayman continue to be the outlier with a dominance of independents influencing the politics of the jurisdiction?

Some might argue that Cayman's continuing political stability is an indication that we may have become quite adept at managing the resulting uncertainty surrounding independent 'associations'.

So far, the only entity that can adequately describe itself as a political party is the former governing - now Opposition - People's Progressive Movement (PPM/Progressives).

And that's just the politics.

The policy landscape is looking equally uncertain.

Even within the ruling UPM, signs of a rift (or at least a serious difference of opinion) have emerged over a proposed hike in annual fees on financial institutions which has ensnared the civil servants' credit union - the Cayman Islands Civil Service Association (CICSA) Co-operative Credit Union.

Premier O'Connor-Conolly appears to be cautious about the CI$200,000 annual fee.

On the other hand, Deputy Premier, Andre Ebanks, has insisted in a statement that "when the Cayman Islands Government's 2024/2025 Budget was approved by Parliament in December last year, it included a budget policy statement that gave all Ministries a broad mandate to review all current fees and consider new revenue."

The recently dumped ReGen waste-to-energy project, the largest ever proposed infrastructural project for Cayman, will no doubt be recycled as a headline campaign issue for the 2025 polls.

Add to the list, traffic congestion - a persistent reality and policy bottleneck, the stubbornly environmentally controversial East-West Arterial road plan, cost of living pressures, and creeping beach erosion with its implications for tourism and employment ...and under-employment).

And speaking of tourism; the cruise pier plan is once again berthing on the political agenda on a scale of impact equal to the size of the mega cruise ships at the centre of this issue.

A referendum on the cruise pier has been announced by the government for later this year. Will that referendum also be a sounding board for voting intentions in the 2025 election?

The mix of topics also includes population and immigration, electoral boundary reviews and minimum wage. The minimum wage matter is another prevailing policy headache now again kicked into the proverbial long grass.

And hanging over Cayman like an ominous dark cloud is the sinister spectre of concerns about crime.

Within all these challenges there are opportunities for Cayman.

The question is: Who will take Cayman forward?

After all, 2025 is just around the corner.

MOT Announces Groundbreaking of Central Scranton Park

The Ministry of Tourism & Ports (MOTP) announces the groundbreaking ceremony for the Central Scranton Park, scheduled for Thursday, 12 September 2024, from 5:00pm to 6:30pm. The event will take place at the park site on Ms. Frances Street in George Town, marking the start of the project aimed at creating a space for leisure, wellness and community gatherings for the people of the Cayman Islands.

The Central Scranton Park is being developed under the leadership of the Hon. Kenneth Bryan, Minister for Tourism & Ports and the elected representative for George Town Central. This new park will brought its full Category 5 destructive force to bear on these islands.

In its wake, paradise was almost lost. But with true Caymanian courage paradise was regained and rebuilt from the over 2 billion dollars in direct property damage and over half a billion dollars to the economy caused by Hurricane Ivan.

Two people lost their lives.

Lessons have been learnt. Awareness has been heightened, the disaster preparedness and response systems upgraded, and Cay-man is better placed to cope (we hope) - as evidenced from the seriousness that most people attach to the hurricane season.

Some policies are unfortunately still lagging behind despite repeated ministerial pledges and political campaign promises to address them as matters of priority. Among those are upgrading the drainage system which quite literally strains to cope, coastline encroachments to accommodate property developments, and threats to the natural barrier of the mangrove network.

But as we look around, its clear that Cayman has bounced back economically from the devastation of Hurricane Ivan.

The question is; although lessons have clearly been learnt, are they all being applied?

Awareness and preparedness for particular storms can only be as effective as the systems and processes in place to mitigate damage from adverse weather conditions, especially severe storms that venture into the local area.

Many who lived through the hours of horror of Hurricane Ivan and 'weathered' the deprivations of its aftermath will be reminiscing on that period.

September 12th 2004 and the days, months and years of recovery which followed are now indelible reminders and permanent fixtures in both the Cayman calendar - and we hope, mindset.

The 2024 hurricane season is far from over. There has already been a close call to date even, with Hurricane Beryl passing southeast of the Cayman Islands exhibiting maximum sustained winds of 130 mph.

Concerns over climate change and the vulnerability of low-lying islands such as the Cayman Islands make heightened awareness an even greater requirement for these islands.

TERRIBLE IVAN REMEMBERED

Hurricane Ivan was a "classical" long lived Cape Verde hurricane. It has been categorized as one of the most powerful hurricanes to hit the Caribbean in recorded history. On September 2 Ivan developed into a tropical depression, it became a tropical storm on the following day and reached hurricane status on 5 September. On September 7 and 8 it damaged 90 percent of the homes in Grenada and killed 16 people. By Thursday morning on September 9, Ivan's sustained winds reached 160 mph making it a rare category 5 hurricane on the Saffir-Simpson scale. On September 11 Ivan began affecting the Sister islands of Cayman Brac and Little Cayman with tropical storm winds and Grand Cayman began experiencing tropical storm winds later that afternoon.

According to information from the National Weather Service the centre of Ivan was located 113 miles SE of Grand Cayman by 10 pm, and at that time hurricane-force winds of over 100 miles per hour were already being experienced on the island. At 5am on Sunday the storm surge from the North Sound was peaking at 10 feet (National Weather Service).

The hurricane made its closest approach at 10 am on Sunday when the eye passed 21 miles SW of the Grand Cayman with winds of 150 mph and gusts of 220 mph. As the storm continued on its track, storm surge and battering waves heavily affected the south coast of Grand Cayman.

Ivan was a slow moving hurricane which increased the exposure of the Island to hurricane force winds as well as increased the total amount of rain.

Hurricane Ivan took the lives of two persons on Grand Cayman and it temporarily displaced significant proportions of the population.

All persons experienced the loss of electricity, water and access to telecommunications for some period immediately following the disaster.

The three most affected districts were George Town, Bodden Town and East End. Together these three districts account for 75% of the total population on Grand Cayman. 402 people were treated for lacerations, wounds, removal of foreign bodies, fractures and burns as a result of the disaster. However, the general health and wellbeing of the population was good and was well maintained by dedicated health care professionals, first responders and the kindness of neighbours.

The total economic impact to the Cayman Islands was estimated by the United Nations ECLAC team to be 3.4 billion (183 % of GDP). Approximately 83% or 13,535 units of the total housing stock in Grand Cayman suffered some degree of damage. Dwellings which were situated on the seashore, in low lying, or swampy areas suffered the most severe damage. Older and less well-constructed housing was also severely affected.

Four per cent (4%) of homes that were affected were so severely damaged that they required complete reconstruction. 70%, or 9, 475, dwellings suffered severe damage which resulted from sea surge or damage caused by winds to roofs, windows and doors. The remaining 26% or 3,519 dwellings, suffered minor damage caused by partial roof removal, low levels of water inundation, or flying roofs and floating objects such as containers. The total financial effect on the housing sector was estimated at CI$1,444,868,244. (1.4 billion) The financial effect on the finance (commerce) and tourism sectors were estimated at around CI$ 460 million each.

St Kitts passport spree

St Kitts and Nevis has become the most sought after country in the Caribbean for those wanting to gain a second passport under its Citizen By Investment programme. The decision to grant citizenship in some cases is being granted in as little as 10 weeks.

The applications are filed under the Sustainable Island State Contribution also known as the Fund Option. St Kitts and Nevis made a major overhaul of the CBI Programme in 2023 because neighbouring islands were cheaper to gain their CBI visas.

For its Sustainable Island State Contribution, St Kitts now charges a minimum donation of US$250,000 (down from $350,000) for a single applicant or a family of up to four people. For each additional dependent under 18, the contribution is US$25,000, and for each additional dependent aged 18 or older, it is US$50,000. Neighbouring islands are about half that.

For real estate, St Kitts, population of only 49,000, charges a minimum investment of US$400,000 in government-approved property projects. This can be a share in a resort or hotel, or a title condo or private home. This scheme has attracted rich clients from Asia, Africa and Arab countries wanting to travel more freely around Europe and America.

Nevertheless, the European Union is concerned over CBI programmes in the Caribbean and has proposed changes that will make it easier to suspend the visas of people who bought passports from countries that sell citizenship to foreigners. The EU fears too many criminals, fraudsters and scammers will be able to slip through the net.

The EU issued a report a year ago which for the first time gave a glimpse of the magnitude of the CBI programmes in Antigua and Barbuda, Dominica, Grenada, St Kitts and Nevis, and St Lucia. By last October, 88,000 passports have been sold by these five countries with Dominica selling 34,500 which, according to reports, was four times more than what the government of Dominica has reported.

The EU's announcement to overhaul the regulations concerning visa-free travel to its borders followed the publication of an investigation done by the Organised Crime and Corruption Reporting Project and a number of international media houses which scrutinised Dominica's CBI programme.

Experts say those willing to pay a premium investment amount for St Kitts passport is because of the reputation it holds across the globe, allowing travellers to pass through countries far easier.

According to the CBI Index 2023: "Benefits of citizenship of St Kitts and Nevis include visa-free travel to a growing number of worldwide destinations -- the highest of any CBI country in the Caribbean and the ability to hold multiple nationalities. Due diligence procedures remain among the industry's most robust. There is no language, education, or business requirement applicable to any of the options chosen."

► Tiny St Kitts and Nevis is a magnet for travellers

Grenada bounces back quickly after hurricane ► Grenada is recovering well after Beryl's passing

Grenada saw a significant boost in visitor numbers in the first half of 2024 despite the impact of Hurricane Beryl in July.

The Grenada Tourism Authority said that visitor arrivals for the first two quarters of the year increased by 20% compared to 2019, and 18% compared to 2023.

In July 2024 alone, the destination saw a 10% increase in visitors over 2019 and a 5% rise compared to 2023. The market has shown impressive resilience, quickly bouncing back to normal booking levels. Following the hurricane, tourism officials worked to reassure travellers that mainland Grenada remains open and ready to welcome visitors, despite the need for relief aid in some areas. These strategic efforts have been crucial in achieving the impressive visitor arrival numbers.

"We are thrilled to see such positive growth in our visitor arrivals during this period, which speaks volumes about Grenada's enduring appeal and the hard work of our tourism stakeholders," said Petra Roach, CEO of the Grenada Tourism Authority. "Our strategic efforts to maintain and grow our market share have been multifaceted."

LIAT spreads its wings with competitive fares

► LIAT 20 has lofty ambitions

The newly-revived LIAT airline is adding new nonstop routes to four more Caribbean islands. LIAT 20, a rebirth of the former regional carrier, is adding new routes to St Kitts and Grenada, Barbados and St Lucia. That comes after LIAT marked its return with its inaugural flight between Antigua, St Lucia and Dominica.

"We are committed to making island-hopping more accessible and enjoyable for all," a company spokesman said. LIAT 20 says it's offering a Caribbean vacation for "EC$99 (US$37) plus taxes."

But that's a one-way fare. For a sample-round-trip fare, with taxes, that amounts to about $378 (US$138). The new LIAT will face the same challenges the old one did, of high intra-regional air taxes. But with fresh finance, a new energy and new strategies they intend not to repeat mistakes of old as intra-island travel increases.

RCIPS Wraps Up the National Gun Amnesty 2024

Sunday 11th August marked the end of the National Gun Amnesty Campaign that was hosted by the RCIPS. The Campaign, which was initially scheduled for the entire month of July, was extended an additional 11 days to provide persons further opportunities to turn in any illegal guns and ammunition using the four options made available to them.

"The RCIPS partnered with members of the community to ensure that the opportunity for the gun amnesty was widely publicised and known by all," says Chief Superintendent Brad Ebanks. "While the hand-ins were considerably less than we hoped for, considering that we know that there is a significant number of illegal guns in our communities, it is important that we acknowledge and thank the brave few who did come forward; you've helped to make the Cayman Islands safer."

The RCIPS would like to thank all those members of the community who participated in the National Gun Amnesty with the hopes of reducing gun violence and eradicating illegal guns from the Cayman Islands. To protect the anonymity of the persons who turned in guns, ammunition and other restricted weapons and items, the RCIPS will not be publishing photos of what was surrendered to the police.

Chief Superintendent Ebanks concludes, "Now that the National Gun Amnesty has concluded, we will continue our policing efforts to locate illegal guns and prosecute those who insist on being in possession of illegal guns."

Man Arrested for assaulting police officer at vehicle stop

Shortly before 1:00AM, Tuesday 3 September, while police were conducting a vehicle stop on Bodden Town Road, a driver, having been asked for his identification and vehicle documents, became combative towards the officer.

The officer attempted to arrest the individual, at which time he tried to drive away causing the officer to fall to the ground. The driver and a passenger then exited the vehicle, and advanced on the officer, in attempts to assault him, causing the officer to deploy his pepper spray.

The suspect then fled the scene in his vehicle, where he proceeded to lose control causing the vehicle to flip and come to a stop in nearby bushes. The man, a 23-year-old of East End, was arrested for assaulting an officer, giving false details, and careless driving, and was transported to the detention center.

The officer was transported by ambulance to the hospital for assessment, and later released.

New Long-Term Parking Facility to Open at Grand Cayman Airport

► Owen Roberts International Airport

The Cayman Islands Airports Authority (CIAA), which operates the Owen Roberts International Airport (ORIA) on Grand Cayman and the Charles Kirkconnell International Airport (CKIA) on Cayman Brac, is excited to announce the development of a new long-term parking facility at ORIA.

Preliminary work has already begun on the development of this new parking facility, which will be located to the east of the airport terminal. It will boast 300 additional parking spaces, a brand-new modern parking management system, and enhanced lighting to ensure safety and convenience for all customers.

The current airport parking facilities have reached full capacity, especially on weekends, making it challenging to accommodate the growing number of passengers efficiently. The new parking facility will alleviate congestion and provide convenient, accessible parking to better serve the traveling public. Additionally, the new parking lot will significantly improve the overall efficiency of airport parking operations, ensuring a seamless and world-class experience.

"We are thrilled to announce the construction of this new long-term parking facility at Owen Roberts International Airport. This project is a significant step forward in our commitment to enhancing the travel experience for our passengers," said Minister for Tourism and Ports Kenneth Bryan.

"We are also delighted that our local Caymanian customers will no longer have to worry about parking availability during our peak periods. The additional parking facility will greatly improve convenience and accessibility, ensuring that our airport continues to provide the highest standard of service," he said. "We look forward to welcoming our customers to this state-of-the-art facility in the near future."

This new parking facility will also accommodate airport stakeholders, including employees from airlines, ground handling service providers and other airport partners.

"Developing a new long-term parking facility at Owen Roberts International Airport is a vital enhancement to our nation's primary gateway. As travel to and from the Cayman Islands continues to grow, ensuring that our infrastructure can accommodate that growth is crucial," said CIAA Board Chairman Johann Moxam. "This project not only reflects our commitment to improving the travel experience for residents but also demonstrates our dedication to continuously improving our airports."

FUNDING BOOST FOR CAYMANIAN TOURISM ENTREPRENEURS

Caymanian entrepreneurs now have access to a development grant of up to CI$50,000 to fund the establishment of new tourism ventures.

The Ministry of Tourism and Ports (MOTP) initiative called The Visitor Experience Development Grant (VEDG) is designed to increase Caymanian participation in the tourism industry and expand the range of products and services available to tourists.

Hon. Minister of Tourism and Ports, Kenneth Bryan, the driving force behind the scheme said: "This initiative spearheaded by the MOTP represents a crucial step in our strategy to diversify and enhance the Cayman Islands tourism offerings. The VEDG programme not only supports the development of unique and authentic experiences, but also outlines a clearly defined gateway for enterprising Caymanians to enter the tourism industry."

According to the ministry, the VEDG programme aims to encourage Caymanian entrepreneurs to create new and authentic visitor experiences to expand the islands tourism product offerings and give tourists a wider range of things to do during their time on Island.

"Recognising that access to capital is often a major barrier for entrepreneurs wishing to establish a new business, the development grant will provide up to CI$50,000 per successful applicant, to fund the establishment of new tourism ventures. Grants will be disbursed in instalments over a three-month period, and conditions are in place to ensure that the funds are used solely for the approved purpose intended," it stated.

By providing funds for innovative new ideas, we are not only enhancing our destination's appeal but also helping to create sustainable income streams for Caymanians, which ultimately contributes to the economic growth and sustainability of our islands."

Support from the VEDG programme will focus on promoting new experiences in a variety of categories. These include: eco, nature and wildlife tours; cultural and heritage activities; food and agricultural experiences; wellness and spiritual retreats; accessible tourism options; 'volun-tourism', film and photography tours; and soft adventure activities.

Additionally, the programme also encourages activities tailored to the luxury market, as well as those designed for children, seniors or disabled visitors, and activities that can be enjoyed at night.

"By providing funds for innovative new ideas, we are not only enhancing our destination's appeal but also helping to create sustainable income streams for Caymanians, which ultimately contributes to the economic growth and sustainability of our islands," Mr Bryan added.

To be considered for a grant under the VEDG programme, the business must be 100% Caymanian-owned, with all owners and employees being Caymanians, and offer new and innovative experiences targeting international visitors.

Applicants must comply with relevant statutory requirements, including the Trade and Business Licensing Act and other applicable regulations. Water-sports, land tours, and transportation operators must hold the necessary Public Transport Unit (PTU) Licenses. Only one application per Caymanian person for a single business will be accepted.

The application process for the VEDG programme is open for a four-week period commencing on Monday 2nd September 2024. Interested parties must complete the online application form available at www.ourcayman.ky/VEDGP in order to submit their proposals to the Ministry of Tourism. The closing date for the receipt of applications is 30th September 2024.

Applications will be reviewed and scored by a panel of representatives from the MOTP and the Department of Tourism (DOT) based on a defined scoring matrix.

Shortlisted applicants will be invited for an interview with the Cayman Islands Centre for Business Development (CICBD) to assess the financial and technical viability of their proposed business concepts. The final scores will be determined based on the combined application and interview scores.

Grants will be awarded to the highest-scoring applicants, subject to the availability of funds. Funds will be disbursed in instalments over three months, based on the provision of quotes or invoices for expected expenses. Successful applicants will be required to participate in a small business orientation workshop and submit documentation to demonstrate the proper use of funds.

Foundational Elements of a Just Constitution (Part Three)

By Dr. Livingston Smith

The institutional framework of the political system is crucial, which means that constitutions, the basic framework, matter for what ultimately happens in the economy and the broader society generally. For example, where democracies function, it is their constitutions that provide the basic political structures, rules, and incentive systems concerning how governments are formed, their continuation, and the democratic guidance on how they come to an end. The constitution being the highest law, defines the rights, duties and relationships of the state and its citizens. The constitution has symbolic as well as real meaning to the identity of the nation-state.

In this series on the constitution and constitutional reform, I have been arguing that the discussion and analysis that precede constitutional reform should centre on personhood and evolve around foundational issues of citizenship, justice, democracy human rights and context. In other words, a

► Dr. Livingston Smith

'just' constitution will have as its foundation, firstly and most importantly, a proper conception of personhood which should then be used as a guide in framing issues of citizenship, democracy, justice and human rights, and the logic of context.

A Conception of Democracy

The theory and practice of modern democracy evolved out of many sources. The philosophy and practice of the city-states of ancient Greece and the French, Bolshevik and American Revolutions have had an enduring effect in the West. The elements involved are sometimes contradictory and inconsistent and explain why any detailed and rigorous definition of democracy can be problematic. It has had very different meanings and connotations in its long history, and in some ways, it is understood differently today in the context of different social and economic systems.

Democracy is more than a set of forms and procedures of government. Its bedrock principle is that it respects equally the autonomy and freedom of the individuals who comprise the state in question. Its core principle is rule by the people and restriction or limitation on the power of government. An appropriate understanding of democracy should be linked to a proper conception of the human person. For example, the legal and political procedures of democracy are intrinsically invaluable because they embody the ultimate moral value of human dignity and, therefore, rest on a conception of the person as being worthy of respect.

A purely procedural definition of democracy, that is, contested elections decided by the majority based on universal adult suffrage and due process of law, though intrinsically valuable, is inadequate. A richer definition of democracy must include a determination of the human rights that a free citizenry finds worthy of protection. It must mean allowing citizens to participate fully in decision-making processes that ultimately affect them. The majority rules, fundamental individual rights are protected, freedom of expression, tolerance of minorities and full participation in the decision-making process are necessary for the essential dignity of the human individual, with equal opportunity for each to develop freely to his fullest capacity. A just constitution is grounded in these and other core ideas of what a democratic system should be.

MOMENTS OF INSPIRATION

THE BLESSING OF BREAKING A SWEAT- PSALM 65:13

This Psalm is a wonderful partnership between a farmer who works the land and God who sends the rain. Verses 9- 13 are replete with images of the tilled and tended land; “ ridges, furrows, pastures and wilderness.” The land has been plowed and worked diligently. These are pastures that have been plowed and worked. They have been cleared to provide places for flocks to graze. Listen. These verses are snapshots of what it means for man to have dominion over the earth, and to subdue it.

In this partnership, the farmer recognizes his dependence on God who rewards the hard work of the farmer. As a result all creation join in praising God. The hills rejoice, the flocks and the corn shout for joy and they all sing. Maybe the best way to praise God today, is to work at something worthwhile. Will you?
