R3 Cayman Foundation Doubles Down on Readiness and Disaster Resilience with Donations Focused on Safety and Security

► R3 Readiness Chair, Michael Meghoo

The R3 Cayman Foundation has made donations totaling US$328,663 to the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service (RCIPS) and Cayman Islands Customs and Border Control (CBC). These grants are part of R3 Cayman Foundation's readiness mandate and ongoing commitment to fortify the Islands' ability to respond quickly and effectively to emergencies and natural disasters.

To support the RCIPS vision for making our country safer, R3 has made a grant of US$76,708 to modernise and enhance capabilities of the helicopter radar imaging technology with advanced AI software. The RCIPS currently operates two helicopters which use thermal camera systems for both maritime and land searches. The grant from R3 will provide funding for perpetual licenses for advanced software which increases the effectiveness of locating people through search and rescue in emergent situations.

"With advances in AI, this software combined with human manipulation can more efficiently and accurately seek and identify objects on land and sea during the day and at night," says Police Commissioner Kurt Walton. "Having the most innovative capabilities is critical for time-sensitive missions, like search and rescue and will benefit a multitude of agencies including RCIPS, CBC, Search and Rescue (SAR) and Fire Services. We are grateful to the R3 Cayman Foundation for its generous donation that has significantly enhanced our nation's search and rescue efforts."

R3 has also given a grant of US$251,955 for the CBC to enhance its capabilities to protect Cayman's borders. The funds support CBC in upgrading cargo scanners at Cayman's most critical ports of entry. The new scanners assist CBC officers with inspecting and processing incoming and outgoing goods which helps mitigate the impact of illegal and violent crimes. Scanners will also streamline importation, allowing for businesses and residents to receive packages more efficiently.

"Dozens of firearms, illicit substances and contraband have been seized by diligent officers working at the Courier and Post Office since the formation of CBC in 2018. However, as technology advances, criminals have become more creative in the methods they use to smuggle goods and substances across borders," says CBC Deputy Director Kevin Walton. "These new scanners with updated features and detection capabilities are instrumental in keeping pace with threats to our economy and citizens."

In addition to scanning for contraband and illicit substances, the scanners are also a useful tool to determine the contents of commercial or personal items for the purpose of duty collection, a key revenue stream for the Cayman Islands Government which annually funds beneficial public-sector initiatives and projects.

These security focused donations are made possible due to donors like The Simpson Group who pledged US$1 million to R3 last year, requesting $500,000 be designated for national security projects to benefit the Cayman Islands.

"Safety and security lie at the heart of the peace and prosperity of any nation. R3 Cayman Foundation is pleased to continue our series of readiness-focused contributions to enhance our Islands' security, whether from human or environmental threats," said R3 Readiness Chair, Michael Meghoo. "Updating the radar and scanning capabilities provides support for our protection services and gives peace of mind to our community that Cayman is leveraging modern technology to safeguard our borders."

Since launching in May 2020, R3 has donated to more than 30 local charitable organisations and governmental departments and authorities that provide emergency preparedness and relief for natural disasters and societal crises. R3 was founded with a US$1 million donation from the Kenneth B. Dart Foundation which has pledged US$8 million in matching contributions to those from other philanthropic foundations, corporations and individuals.

"Thanks to Cayman's generous donor community, R3 Cayman Foundation has drawn all but US$1 million of the matching pledges committed by the Kenneth B. Dart Foundation," said R3 Fundraising Committee Chair and Kenneth B. Dart Foundation board member Jackie Doak. "We encourage corporate and individual donors to channel their contributions through R3 to increase their impact by triggering the KBDF match."

CareerMasters Launches Groundbreaking DEI Inspired Youth Pre-Career Program in Local High Schools

In an innovative step towards empowering the next generation of leaders in the Cayman Islands, Christina Bodden, Partner with the Maples Group and Kelly Sage, Rampd Consulting have collaborated with the Cayman Islands Government and AIMA for a new approach to youth pre-career learning.

The team, along with Lara Deysel, Partner at KPMG, have a track record of a previous 9 years operating a successful local pre-career programme which supported over 700 local female high school students.

With a new expanded and inclusive reach, CareerMasters, will launch in October 2024, welcoming students of all genders between the ages of 15-18 from local participating high schools.

CareerMasters, which is centered on the core principles of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI), is an immersive one-year programme focused solely on preparing students for tertiary education and pre-career opportunities. The program seeks to bridge gaps in early career preparation, ensuring that students have the tools they need to succeed in an increasingly competitive and diverse local and global job market.

“CareerMasters focuses on three key areas, being the student’s practical application in accessing pre-career opportunities, participating in project-based work in diverse team-based environments, and mentorship. The programme results in “placements”, whether that be work experience, longer internships, scholarships or other workplace opportunities. Each CareerMaster student graduates from the programme with an experience under their belt”, says Kelly Sage.

On completion, students are invited to join a CareerMasters Alumni Society, where they continue to be active in the organization. The programme is unique as it focuses on quantifiable results and utilizing a growing alumni group to support future students and the community.

CareerMasters took the opportunity to soft launch its strategic plan in June 2024 to stakeholders in the public and private sector. Support from the community has been hugely positive, with growing excitement for a more focused approach to pre-career preparation amongst local students.

“We believe that preparing young people for their future careers is about more than just teaching technical skills. This programme is structured and immersive. It’s about cultivating a mindset of positive habits, fostering equitable opportunities, and ensuring that every young person, regardless of gender or background, has a fair shot at success,” said Christina Bodden, The Maples Group. “By integrating DEI into every aspect of this program, we’re not just shaping future professionals—we’re shaping confident, forward-thinking leaders.”

The Power of Alliance

CareerMasters is a proud partnership between the Cayman Islands Government and AIMA Cayman. CareerMasters also works each of its participating schools, being John Gray High School, Cayman International School, Clifton Hunter High School, Layman Scott High School, Cayman Prep and High School and St. Ignatius Catholic School to receive valuable feedback and facilitate support for its students.

AIMA Cayman is the Cayman Islands chapter of The Alternative Investment Management Association (AIMA), the global representative of the alternative investment industry, with around 2,100 corporate members in over 60 countries. AIMA’s fund manager members collectively manage more than US$3 trillion in hedge fund and private credit assets. AIMA draws upon the expertise and diversity of its membership to provide leadership in industry initiatives such as advocacy, policy and regulatory engagement, educational programmes and sound practice guides. AIMA works to raise media and public awareness of the value of the industry.

We are incredibly optimistic about its potential to enhance our youth’s readiness for the modern workforce and their ability to contribute positively to the future of the Cayman Islands,” said Ms. Lyneth Monteith, Acting Chief Officer for the Ministry of Ed-

IMAC’s Annual Gala raises over US$42,000 for Educational Scholarship Fund

► Kieran Mehigan - IMAC Chair

Members of the Cayman Islands insurance industry gathered at the Kimpton Seafire Hotel for the 12th Annual Gala & Scholarship Fundraiser on Saturday September 14th, hosted by the Insurance Managers Association of Cayman (IMAC). Comedian Eddie Brill, best known as the warm-up act for David Letterman, entertained guests as the after-dinner speaker for the evening.

This annual fundraiser event supports IMAC’s Educational Scholarship Foundation (ESF), which has raised nearly US$5 million over the years, enabling 73 young Caymanians to pursue higher education globally. Some of these diverse disciplines include Business Management, Public Relations, Aviation Management, and various areas covering the Arts and Sciences.

Kieran Mehigan, Chair of IMAC said,

“IMAC is delighted to continue to do its utmost to support Cayman’s youth by supporting their education through the use of the IMAC Educational Scholarship. Traditionally IMAC has been able to provide scholarships to those not only returning to the international insurance industry, but also to many others who have returned to Cayman to give back to the community. The Gala also provides an enjoyable way for the insurance management community to come together and raise funds for such a worthy cause.”

With more than 370 attendees at this year’s Gala, the event successfully raised over US$42,000 for the scholarship fund.

EU-Funded CIG Initiative Delivers Energy-Efficient Retrofits to NHDT Homes

The RESEMBID programme, funded by the European Union and implemented by Expertise France, aims to increase awareness and reduce energy consumption in the residential sector of the Cayman Islands by improving energy efficiency, facilitating retrofits and installing solar energy for 10 National Housing Development Trust (NHDT) homes.

Hon. Katherine Ebanks-Wilks, Minister of Sustainability & Climate Resilience, said: "I am delighted to see the positive impact our Residential Energy Efficiency Programme is having on Caymanians. By providing energy-efficient retrofits, we are not only helping residents reduce their energy costs but also taking significant steps to protect our environment. This initiative is vital for both the well-being of our people and the sustainability of our beautiful islands."

The first phase of the programme involved the analysis of NHDT residents through an application process and the development of selection criteria for 10 homes that formed the basis of the pilot project.

The criteria were based on a number of factors including, but not limited to, household income, disabilities, and energy usage. Following the selection, structural assessments and extensive energy audits were carried out on each of the homes to inform which retrofits and installations would be carried out on the homes.

Each of the 10 residences were recently fitted with energy efficient attic insulation with an R-value of 30, energy monitors to help residents keep track of their daily household energy consumption and air conditioning units with a 20 SEER (Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio) rating installed in their homes. Additionally, work is already underway to install solar panels on the homes, which will further reduce the homeowners' reliance on electricity and lower their utility bills.

One of the 10 homeowners, retiree Ms. Joy Taylor-Ebanks, said: "I'm ecstatic! I'm over the moon to be selected to be part of this project and receive these new fittings. I'm gonna be chilling out – maybe it's even going to be a little foreign inside there – cool and nice."

Energy-efficient appliances and products can typically reduce household energy consumption by nearly two-thirds, and homeowners can save as much as $3,000 on utility bills per year on average by choosing these products and systems.

"They're doing a lovely, wonderful thing for the community," Taylor-Ebanks said of the Ministry's programme. "I appreciate them. Big props to them, and I hope we keep in touch so I can tell them how cool I am!"

Following an open procurement process, the Ministry contracted local businesses Eco House, Parsons AC, Electra Tech and ProSolar to supply and install the products.

Installation for solar panels is expected to begin in September.

As part of the long-term benefits of the programme, the Ministry will be tracking the energy consumption of the 10 homeowners for the next 12 months, with the findings shared online for the benefit of the wider public.

The Ministry aims to launch more initiatives for retrofitting homes in the near future.

This is the second energy efficiency retrofit programme the Ministry has implemented. The Ministry is also responsible for the Cayman Home Energy Efficiency Retrofit (CHEER) programme which was launched in July 2023 to all Caymanian homeowners.

The Cayman Islands will host its first ever international pageant when the 20th Annual Miss Global International Pageant takes place on Sunday, 13 October at the Hotel Indigo.

Almost 30 delegates from around the world will join Caitlin Tyson, Miss Global International Cayman Islands 2024 and former Miss Universe Cayman Islands (2018), and Miss Global International Philippines 2024, Britney Kay Quiz (who resides in Cayman), to compete for the coveted title of Miss Global International 2024. Contestants will be judged in the categories of talent, national costume, swimwear and evening gown and participate in an on-stage interview.

"I am so excited to bring the thrill of international pageantry competition to the Cayman Islands for the first time," said Ms. Catherine Tyson-Sewell, Miss Global International franchise holder for both the Cayman Islands and Philippines. "I've been a part of the international pageant circuit for many years, and it is so much more than just appearance. It is about empowerment, sisterhood, personal growth, cultural exchange, camaraderie and fun. These delegates build invaluable life-long friendships and professional connections that transcend any crown or title. I am really looking forward to hosting them in Cayman and putting on a first-class event for them and the Cayman public."

The Miss Global International Cayman Islands Organisation has secured a multi-year agreement for the pageant to be hosted in Cayman, a move the reigning Miss Global International Cayman Islands 2024 believes will benefit the global franchise and anyone who competes in the competition.

Cayman Islands Red Cross Hosts 26th Annual Golf Tournament, Commemorates 20 Years since Hurricane Ivan

The Cayman Islands Red Cross (CIRC) proudly hosted its 26th Annual Golf Tournament on September 6th, 2024, at the picturesque North Sound Golf Club. This year's event held special significance as it not only marked the 20th anniversary of Hurricane Ivan, but also served as a celebration of the Red Cross's vital role during Ivan and every storm and emergency that has impacted the Cayman Islands since. While reflecting on the immense destruction caused by Hurricane Ivan, the tournament celebrated the CIRC's unwavering commitment to helping the community through times of crisis.

The Cayman Islands Red Cross played a pivotal role not only in the aftermath of Hurricane Ivan but also during the storm itself. As the hurricane made landfall, 135 people sought refuge in the CIRC's emergency shelter, where they were provided with safety and care during the harrowing event. In the days, months, and years that followed, the Red Cross continued to be at the forefront of preparedness and recovery efforts—providing critical resources and training, long-term support, and ensuring the community was better prepared for future disasters.

The 2024 tournament brought together 30 teams, all united for a common cause: to support CIRC's year-round programs and activities. The event was officially opened by Hon. André Ebanks, MP, Deputy Premier, Minister for Financial Services & Commerce, and Minister for Investment, Innovation & Social Development. In his remarks, he highlighted the invaluable role the Red Cross plays in the community, especially during disasters.

"The Red Cross is an invaluable organization—you may not feel its impact every day, but you would certainly notice if it were gone. Over the last 20 years since Ivan, the Red Cross has done tremendous work, whether during major disasters or near-misses like Hurricane Beryl, as well as in their daily efforts to support the vulnerable. We owe them a heartfelt thank you," Minister Ebanks said.

He also emphasized the critical role the business sector plays in supporting organizations like CIRC, stating, "To the business community—your investment in advancing social development is crucial. In this beautiful country, we have a remarkable synergy between the public and private sectors, working hand in hand." Hon. Mr. Ebanks then officially opened the tournament by hitting the first tee shot.
